

My name is Chris Bohnhoff, and with deep gratitude and humility, I am the nominee for Minister Search Committee Chair. I am married to Johanna Schussler, and our son, Heiko Bohnhoff, is in second grade. We live in south Minneapolis.

By way of introduction, a couple quick thoughts as the committee forms. First, we at Plymouth have so much reason for optimism. Our work as progressive Christians isn't easy, but it's never been more important or relevant. Second, as the search committee works to find our next minister, we will be doing everything we can to be inclusive and transparent. We will seek out voices, and we will be regular communicators.

Please do put your name forward if you feel called to engage with the work of the Search Committee. And also know that there will be many more avenues to enter the conversation. Please email me at chris@chrisbohnhoff.com with your thoughts and ideas. In peace and fellowship.
