

At the June 21, 2023 Congregational Conversation these questions bubbled to the surface.

Our questions with our temperature taking “votes”:

17 How does Plymouth live out the example of Jesus’s life out into the community? What would Jesus and his early followers say about our relationship with our abundance in this time and place.

13 What risks can we tolerate?

12 Can Plymouth exist without our buildings? What does the future of our building look like?

11 What is essential to Plymouth? What could be left out?

11 Is Plymouth at a point in time when we have scarcity or abundance?

10 What are the spiritual purposes of wealth?

8 How will we make our income expenses understood by the community.

6 Can we have a 5-year plan at the end of this process?

4 Who are we?

3 How can Plymouth nurture our spiritual development through this budget process?

2 How des Plymouth represent itself/its purposes and why with the priorities that we have?

2 How can we be one community with diverse opinions, each person embodying God’s love, listening and in covenant with each other.

2 How do we educate the congregation about what resources will be required to be and to grow as a unique resource for members and the community.

1 How does Plymouth become part of the immediate community around us.

1 What does our leadership look like?
